Are you all excited about the Royal wedding? Well, sadly I'm a bit disappointed in it. If a wedding doesn't have the potential for some jiltings, adultery revelations, paternity shocks, or just a good old punch-up at the altar, I kinda lose interest. In fact, the only shock left to be revealed at the wedding is the design of Meghan's frock – so we thought we'd help her out, just in case she's having a last-minute panic (you never know, she might be!), with a bit of soapie inspiration. Turn to p50 to see the potential gowns we've picked out for her. And if she emerges from that horse-drawn carriage on Saturday sporting 'The Rita', I'm taking full credit for her choice!

"Are you excited for the Royal wedding?"

Elsewhere this week, there are no weddings, but we can do you a birth, as Nicola goes into a dramatic labour in Corrie, and a death – as Shakil tragically loses his life in an EastEnders storyline that will resonate with many at the moment.

EASTENDERS | BBC1 MONDAY

TRAGEDY STRIKES THE KAZEMI CLAN, AS CARMEL'S YOUNGEST SON SHAKIL IS ATTACKED AND FATALLY STABBED...

Prepare for shocking scenes in Albert Square this week, as EastEnders tackles the issue of knife crime – with devastating consequences.

When teenage pals Keegan and Shakil cross a violent gang, the situation spirals rapidly out of control – leaving both boys in mortal danger after the pair of them are brutally stabbed.

While Keegan is found just in time to be saved from his life-threatening injuries, it's a different story for poor Shakil – who passes away soon after he's rushed to hospital. And as Carmel and her eldest boy Kush collapse in grief for the loss of their beloved Shaki, the entire Walford community is shocked to the core...

Carmel is devastated to learn of her son's death

"Every friend and neighbour feels Kush and Carmel's pain," sighs our Albert Square spy. "They can't believe this has happened on their doorstep. For a parent to lose a child – particularly one so young – is an agony few can bear to imagine. Their hearts go out to the Kazemis, and everyone stands united in the face of this terrible tragedy."

It's after Keegan steals an unattended bike belonging to a local gang member that disaster strikes. Shakil urges his mate to return it, but Keegan refuses – and when Shakil takes the bike's padlock keys, intending to do the right thing, both lads become a target. Although landlord Mick turfs the thugs out of the Vic, violence erupts outside...

Shakil finds the key to the bicycle's padlock, and comes to a decision

"Keegan confronts one of the gang members in the Vic's alley," shares our informant. "But he barely has a chance to defend himself before he's been stabbed – and as he falls to the floor, he realises Shakil has been attacked, too. The boys are badly hurt – and no one else knows they're there."

Shakil manages to get up and stumble to the crowded street, where he tries and fails to alert Mick – then collapses out of sight. It's only when Mick later makes his final checks at the Vic before going to bed that he spots Keegan. Calling for an ambulance, Mick remains by Keegan's side – but the injured teen's efforts to tell Mick about Shakil prove futile.

Shakil decides to do the right thing – but as he leaves the Vic, he's headed for trouble

"Mick panics, and can't understand what Keegan is trying to say," admits our insider. "He's also distracted by how long the ambulance is taking – so he decides to carry Keegan into his own car to get him to hospital himself. But Mick's oblivious to the fact that Shakil is just yards away, as badly hurt as Keegan."

The following morning, news of the horrific events starts to spread, and the locals are badly shaken. However, it's only at this point that Shakil's absence is realised, and the

“I want young people to watch these episodes!”

As Shaheen Jafargholi shoots his shocking final scenes, he hopes they'll make a difference...

What's it been like, playing out such a dramatic storyline?

It's like nothing I've ever experienced in my life. It's a privilege to be part of a story raising awareness about knife crime – it's such an important issue to tackle. We've been working really closely with the Ben Kinsella Trust [the charity launched by ex-EastEnders star Brooke Kinsella after her brother was fatally stabbed in 2008].

Is there anything you've learned from the story?

Just the scale of the problem. I've been keeping an eye on the reality of knife crime – and seeing how much of an issue it is is shocking.

How does it feel for this to be your exit story?

I'm really proud. I was excited when I was first told the idea. Hopefully it will help many people and shed light on the situation. It's something that needs to be spoken about, especially now. I'm so grateful and humbled.

Would you have preferred the door to have been left open?

Sadly, a lot of stabbings are fatal. Then there's a family and a world of people left to deal with the consequences. That's the part of the story which is crucial to tell, as it's the part most of us don't ever see. If neither Shakil nor Keegan died, we wouldn't be showing the true consequences of knife crime.

Is there anything you want the story to achieve?

Number one for me is raising awareness. It's scary how many young people carry a knife, so I want them all to watch this – it needs to change. If even one person stops carrying a knife, we've made a difference.

What did you make of the scripts when you read them?

I could really feel the emotion. So much research goes into the stories, and that really comes across.

What's been your favourite moment?

It's difficult to pick one! I've made so many friends, especially Tilly Keeper [Louise], Jasmine Armfield [Bex] and Zack Morris [Keegan]. There have been so many jokes and funny moments. That's the vibe of this place. Everyone is so fun and easy-going.

What's next for you?

I'm going to be doing music again. I took a break in my teenage years to finish school and be on EastEnders. I've got nearly an album done already!

Walford residents help police search for him. The hunt has a tragic outcome, though, as the Kazemis eventually learn that Shakil has passed away...

“Doctors do all they can, but it's too late for Shakil,” says our sneak. “His injuries are too severe, and Carmel and Kush are told he hasn't made it. It's a cruel and bitter blow, and the idea they've lost Shaki forever is too terrible to bear.”

As word reaches Walford that the worst has happened, can the Square's community spirit help its devastated locals through the dark days ahead?

Nicola's horror fall - as Eileen's stalker is revealed!

PHELAN'S DAUGHTER IS FORCED TO HAVE HER BABY EARLY - BUT WILL MOTHER AND CHILD SURVIVE?

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

This is the shocking moment when pregnant Nicola's comatose body is discovered at the bottom of the stairs at No 11 - after Eileen's stalker strikes again!

For a number of weeks, Phelan's traumatised wife has been the target of a vicious hate campaign that has included silent phone calls and criminal damage to her property. However, the perpetrator ups the ante this week by sneaking into Eileen's home to spook her - as viewers finally learn the culprit's identity.

"In a horrifying twist, pregnant Nicola is caught in the crossfire when she hears a suspicious noise inside the house - which causes her to take a terrifying tumble," reports our Weatherfield insider. "She is knocked out cold and bleeding, and her unborn baby is in danger too. Both of their lives are on the line."

PHELAN RETURNS?

The tense drama unfolds after another nightmare week for Eileen, who is continuing to receive prank calls - and even returns home one afternoon to find two strange men carrying away her furniture.

The fellas explain that someone called Pat booked them to clear out the house and gave them a key, which of course chills Eileen to the core. Then she realises that her stalker is targeting Streetcars as well, after the minicab firm falls victim to a hoax fare.

Eileen fears the worst when she sees what's happened to Nicola

As Nicola lies unconscious, Eileen worries that her stalker is responsible

INSIDE SCOOP

However, both incidents pale in comparison with the moment terrified Eileen later answers her mobile phone – to the sound of evil Phelan's voice at the other end!

"Eileen's blood runs cold, as she is convinced she sent her murdering husband to a watery grave," explains our mole. "Following weeks of believing him to be dead, she is finally forced to question whether Phelan could actually still be alive and out to get her."

STALKER REVEALED!

After discovering his shaken pal, Steve calls the police – and Eileen tells them that her dead hubby appears to have made contact! The suggestion is put to her that Phelan's voice could have been lifted from a previous voicemail message, which leaves Eileen horrified to think someone would go so far. But who is responsible?

Eileen's prime suspect is Alya, whom she accuses of making the nuisance calls. However, as she receives more abuse – and later discovers a brick has been thrown through her window – it seems that her tormentor isn't finished yet.

Elsewhere, we witness someone hiding in the ginnel, fresh from having committed their latest hateful act – and at last learn the stalker's identity.

Gary stakes out Phelan!

The men head for a huge showdown...

As Nicola and his baby fight for their lives, Gary sets off on a mission to track down the man at the root of all their problems – and finally manages to locate wicked Phelan!

Viewers know Phelan is alive and plotting his next move but, aside from the sinister campaign targeting Eileen, there is no other reason for the Weatherfield locals to suspect he is still out there. However, prior to Nicola's fall, she gets chatting online to someone who she thinks is a fellow mum-to-be living in Wales – prompting Gary's sixth sense to worry that Nicola's new friend might not be as they seem...

"The town Abergele keeps popping up in this chat room that Nicola is talking about, leaving Gary with a hunch that the person might not be who they say they are," explains actor Mikey North, who plays him. "He goes to the caravan

THE FALL GIRL

The police insist to Eileen that the guilty party can’t possibly be ‘dead’ Phelan, and they’re doing everything they can to trace the rotter responsible.

Meanwhile, Nicola is home alone when she hears a noise upstairs, causing her to stumble and fall down the steps. Having heard the commotion, Fiz rushes round from next door to find Nicola unresponsive –

Eileen is rattled when two blokes come to take her stuff away and it’s not long before they are joined by Eileen and Seb.

Thankfully, the mum-to-be regains consciousness, but complains of stomach pains upon arriving at Weatherfield General – where the doctors deem her condition so serious that they hurry her into theatre for an emergency caesarean.

take on Pat, Gary calls upon his former comrade Joe, whom he worked with last year on some high-risk security jobs in Ukraine. Together, the fellas roll up at the caravan park, only for stunned Gary to spot Phelan in the distance alive and well!

What will he do next?

“Gary has Joe there under the pretence that he just wants to scare Phelan a bit,” Mikey tells us. “But once Gary sees Phelan, the whole plan goes out of the window and he makes a really bad decision in order to get Pat to Weatherfield...”

BETHANY'S NEW HELL!

Rape victim Bethany is gradually getting her life back on track, but her happiness looks set to be sabotaged with the news that Weatherfield newcomer Kayla is not all she seems. Reports claim that the Speed Daal waitress, who's already marked Bethany by taking a shine to Craig, is actually the daughter of Neil Clifton – the police sergeant who raped Bethany when she was being groomed by nasty Nathan Curtis!

"Part of Neil's defence at his trial was that he had children of his own, and a daughter close to Bethany's age," our cobbles source reminds us. "If Kayla really is the girl in question, she'll know that her father was sent to prison for what he did to Bethany. But why is she keeping her true identity a secret?"

The smart money is on Kayla wanting revenge on Bethany, who she surely blames for her father being sent to jail. Neil is an expert liar, so we wouldn't put it past him to have duped his family into believing he's innocent. On the other hand, perhaps Kayla is horrified by her dad's actions, and wants to offer his victim her support? Either way, Bethany's demons are set to resurface.

"When Corrie boss Kate Oates announced that Kayla would be joining the Street, she said that trouble was on the horizon for Bethany and Craig," remembers our mole. "The battle lines appear to have been drawn following Kayla's sudden interest in Craig – but is her interest in him genuine, or is it all part of her plan to get at Bethany?"

We'll learn more about Kayla's agenda in the coming weeks.

Her nightmare with Nathan comes back to haunt her...

ALICIA'S ORDEAL

She'll suffer at the hands of Eddie...

Casualty's Alicia will face one of the darkest times of her life in the coming weeks, when she's raped by her colleague Eddie.

The shocking events will unfold after the pair get chatting in the pub – but when Alicia wakes up in Eddie's bed the next morning, she has no memory of consenting to have sex with him.

As the realisation dawns on her that she's been raped, Alicia will struggle to face Eddie at work every day. So will she find the strength to speak out? And will her colleagues believe her version of events if she does find someone to confide in?

CHARITY'S SECRET SON - IS HE ALIVE?

Emma Atkins explains that a big shock is in store...

Just when we thought that the revelations from Charity's past couldn't be any more harrowing, she told Harriet that her secret baby had died – and then implied that she had long since buried him. But is she telling the truth?

Emmerdale bosses recently announced that they are going to explore Charity's backstory in much more detail through a special flashback episode – and now star Emma Atkins tells us that another huge shock is in store...

"Charity and Vanessa actually narrate Charity's past [with actress Mia Proctor playing the role of her teenage self] and for the first time ever, the audience will get to

So are we set to learn that Charity's son is in fact still out there? Or is there an even bigger twist in the tale?

BABS’ BRAVE BATTLE

Her illness saw her say goodbye to Peggy...

The heartbreaking real-life story behind Peggy Mitchell’s Walford exit has been revealed, with news that Dame Barbara Windsor is living with Alzheimer’s disease.

EastEnders viewers were devastated when the Vic’s legendary landlady was killed off in 2016, after Babs called time on her Square love affair. But it was Barbara’s devoted hubby Scott Mitchell who advised show chiefs on how they should proceed with Peggy’s departure, knowing her condition would have prevented another return.

“Barbara contacted the executive producer at the time, Dominic Treadwell-Collins, to make the suggestion [to leave EastEnders for good], and at first he said, ‘I can’t kill off an iconic character’,” revealed Scott. “So, without giving him the full picture, I confided that she was really struggling to learn lines, and wouldn’t ever be coming back after this.

“I asked that she have an autocue on set,” he added. “But Barbara just used it to refresh her memory in between takes. If you saw Peggy’s death scenes, you could see she wasn’t reading it. It was some of the best work she ever did – I was incredibly proud of her.”

HE'S GUNNING FOR HIS ACID ATTACKER – BUT WHO TAKES A BULLET AS ALL HELL BREAKS LOOSE?

EMMERDALE | ITV THURSDAY

Debbie is at risk
when nasty Connor issues an ultimatum

Vengeful Ross fires a lethal shot this week – but who's on the receiving end of his gun-toting violence?

Traumatised by the acid horror that's left him scarred for life, Ross is determined to have his own personal justice after the court case against attacker Simon fell apart. In a bid to track down Simon, Ross has been getting in deep with prostitute Dawn and her pimp and drug dealer Connor. However, there's hell to pay when Ross confronts vicious Connor and discovers a missing piece of the jigsaw that could change everything...

"Ross is hell-bent on getting some kind of street justice," explains Michael Parr, who plays the injured mechanic. "When he and Connor meet, it's a measuring contest to see which one of them is the biggest badass. Connor is more legit because he's an actual thug, whereas Ross just has thuggish moments!"

IN TOO DEEP

Ross wants to know why Simon attacked him, because there was no grudge between them as far as he knows. He correctly assumes that there must be another party involved – but unless he can find Simon, he can't get any more information.

Trigger-happy Ross seeks revenge for the vicious attack against him

Hoping to get in with Connor, Ross soon agrees to move some drugs for the violent dealer, believing he can make some fast cash and find more information. But he's getting too involved with people who can do him serious harm – that's proven when Debbie stops him en route to a drop-off with a car full of heroin and, while they talk, the vehicle is stolen from under his nose. It's a heart-stopping moment as Ross realises that the drugs are gone, and that he will have to explain what's happened to Connor!

"Ross never finds out who steals his car, so I'll leave it at that," teases Michael. "But it's a big panic for him – there's 10 grand's worth of heroin in that car, in the wrong hands. But more to the point, Ross is now 10 grand in the hole with a crazy gangster!"

Things look pretty bleak for Ross – though worse is to come when instead of focussing his fury on the bad boy Barton, Connor targets Debbie. He threatens her life if she doesn't come up with the car or the money in time, and that makes both her and Ross even more desperate.

"These people aren't playing," warns Michael. "Connor comes round to Ross' place with a heavy in tow, and that should prove how legit he is."

As Ross and Debbie race against time to find the car and the drugs, there's more danger around the corner. Connor is about to reveal an important piece of information that will change everything for Ross – and it's going to cause merry hell in Emmerdale village.

"Connor tells him Simon was paid to attack him!" explains Michael. "He's been manipulating Ross, saying that he'll give him a bit of info if Ross does a job for him. Having done lots of jobs for Connor, Ross grows tired of being spun a yarn, so he gets a gun and threatens him. Connor backs down and says, 'You're chasing the wrong person...'"

SHOOT TO KILL!

When Connor mentions Joe Tate, Ross goes off the deep end! Full of rage, he heads to Home Farm to confront Joe, who he now believes set up his attack. Of course, he has no idea that Debbie is the guilty party – and things spiral out of control as he decides to play a deadly game of Russian roulette.

"Ross is determined to get answers," says Michael. "He has this very old

Ross demands some answers from Connor – but they send him into a rage

World War II gun, and it has a barrel with six holes, so Ross puts one bullet in, spins it, and just keeps pulling the hammer back and pointing the gun at Joe, pulling the trigger! It's obviously going to go off at some point, so there's a lot of pressure to reveal the truth."

Eventually, the inevitable happens and a bullet is fired. But does Joe take the hit? Or is someone else shot as Ross' revenge plot has deadly consequences?

Michael is in the running for a prestigious gong...

It's been a huge year for Michael, as Ross' acid attack storyline has given him plenty of drama to play out. So it was no surprise that the star was on the long list for the Best Actor prize at this year's British Soap Awards. But he was gobsmacked when he learned he'd made it on to the shortlist – alongside the Street's Jack P Shepherd (David) and Connor

"Wow, thank you guys for getting me through to the shortlist," tweeted Michael. "Some fierce competition to be up against. If I could hug and squeeze every one of you, I would. If I win, I will! Thank you."

Maxine saves Adam?

GLENN IS BAYING

THERE'S A GRASS

It's Maxine's turn to join forces with the local cops this week, as livid Glenn threatens to kill the person who's been grassing him up!

Now that Maxine knows her hubby Adam has been working with DS Cassidy to bring down his violent dad, she's terrified of what will happen if Glenn discovers the truth. Desperate to save Adam from Glenn's wrath, she sets out to prove that her father-in-law is a dangerous criminal...

"It's been years since Maxine has had to deceive someone like this, but she can definitely handle herself!" declares Nikki Sanderson, who plays the mum-turned-detective. "When Maxine first came to the village, she was a bit of a crook, so she's someone who's very capable of pulling the wool over people's eyes. However, she has changed a lot since she had Minnie – so she's a little bit rusty!"

As the week kicks off, Maxine is still reeling after finding out the truth about her hubby's involvement with Glenn – although he's failed to come clean to her about his naughty bunk-up with Roxy! So when furious Glenn reveals to Adam that someone has ratted him out to the cops, and that he intends to kill the culprit when he finds them, Adam instructs Maxine to pack her bags – because they're leaving Hollyoaks!

"Maxine can sense that Adam is fearful of Glenn, but she's not scared of him at this Zack! As he and Adam set about tracking down the teenager, Maxine is left worried when she can't get hold of her hubby. Which is what prompts her to go to the cops herself, and offer to get hold of some hard evidence that will send Glenn down for a long time...

"Maxine and Roxy decide that the best thing to do is to get Glenn to implicate himself," explains Nikki. "Roxy instructs Maxine to plant a

If Maxine wasn't afraid of Glenn before, she certainly should be now! So will Glenn figure out what his daughter-in-law is up to? And has he already discovered that Adam is the real snitch in his midst?

AS THE REBELLIOUS LASS BATTLES KAT, SHE'S SECRETLY SLEEPING ROUGH...

Hayley finds herself on the sharp end of Kat's claws this week – and finishes up sleeping on the street!

The latest Slater wrangle kicks off after the family bring hungover Hayley to the Vic with them. Of course, given that Hayley was only recently found sharing a bed with Mick, she doesn't receive a warm reception when landlady Linda claps eyes on her...

"Ever since Hayley arrived in Walford, it's been clear that she's a pariah as far as the rest of her clan is concerned," says our Albert Square insider. "So when Linda spots Hayley and reminds her that she's barred from the premises, Kat takes great pleasure in mocking her young relative! Unsurprisingly, that doesn't go down well with Hayley, who lashes out by tipping her drink all over Kat!"

Feeling downtrodden and depressed, Hayley ends up on the Night Tube, and takes the opportunity to con a passer-by out of some cash. However, as she is resigned to sleeping rough on the streets, she soon meets another homeless girl, named Brianna, with whom she decides to share some of her ill-gotten gains.

"Hayley might act all tough, but she's quite vulnerable at heart," reasons our snitch. "She's certainly canny enough to think on her feet – though when she meets another young woman in trouble, she only feels compassion and wants to help her. She and Brianna have a heart-to-heart about their problems, and seem to strike up a friendship. However, after Hayley falls asleep, she wakes to find that Brianna has run off with the rest of the money!"

Fed-up, hungry and penniless, Hayley reluctantly returns to Albert Square and tries to catch up on her sleep at the Slater house. But while Hayley just wants to have a bit of shut-eye, seething Kat has other ideas...

"Kat will use any underhand tactics in order to get rid of Hayley," sighs our spy. "So

...and she and Kat find themselves at loggerheads

“Hayley might act all tough, but she's quite vulnerable at heart”

Will she soon be reunited with Alfie and her children?

We still don't know what exactly has happened between Kat and Alfie, but over the past few weeks it's become increasingly clear just how much Kat is missing her three kids – seven-year-old Tommy, and twins Bert and Ernie, aged three.

Although she's been keeping up the pretence that she's in regular contact with them, we've seen Kat refusing to answer calls and texts from Alfie. We've also witnessed her pretending she's been at the cinema with the children, when in reality she was alone. Surely it won't be long until Stacey and the rest of the Slaters realise there's a major problem?

This week, we see Kat pining after her kids once more, and she wonders if it's finally time to send a message to her estranged husband. Will she give in to temptation and call Alfie – and if so, can we expect him back in Albert Square any time soon?

after the troubled lass has retired to bed and her mobile phone rings, Kat sneakily tries to answer it – on the off-chance she'll be able to discover something that she can use to her advantage. However, Hayley is still awake and manages to catch Kat in the act! This is surely only going to make the warring pair even more cautious of each other."

Later, Hayley lets slip that she's going out to meet a new man, and decides to 'borrow' some of Stacey's clothes. On hearing this, Kat changes tack and offers to help Hayley get ready for the date – which instantly arouses Jean's suspicions. Why is Kat being so helpful all of a sudden?

"Jean is right to be dubious – Kat has another trick up her sleeve!" sniggers our sneak. "She's spotted an opportunity to play a prank on Hayley, to make her feel even more unwelcome. But when Jean works out what Kat is up to, she feels torn. Should she warn Hayley – or leave the bickering pair to it?"

Wicked Finn is back!

WHAT CHAOS WILL HE CAUSE THIS TIME ROUND?

Beatrix has no idea that she's being used by her sibling's ex

There's one hell of a storm brewing in Erinsborough this week, as wicked teacher Finn Kelly arrives back in town!

The last time we saw the villain, he was being carted off to prison after he confessed to tampering with Susan's medication. His plotting and manipulation had turned everyone on Ramsay Street against him, which begs the question – why exactly would he want to return?

"Finn is back to settle some scores," teases actor Rob Mills, who reprises his role as the bad boy. "He definitely has unfinished business in Erinsborough. I think that he'll always be in love with Elly in a weird sort of way – she's the one that got away. But it's turned into a full-on obsession for him."

As the week kicks off, Elly is delighted to see her half-sister Beatrix, who seems to be on Ramsay Street to fix their fractured relationship. The pair have been estranged for years, and Elly is keen to make up for lost time – however, Bea appears to still hold some resentment towards her older sibling over their troubled past.

The plot thickens when Bea returns to her hotel room to meet her secret boyfriend, 'Patrick' – who turns out to be none other than Finn!

"Bea and Finn have crossed paths before they arrive in Erinsborough, and they've formed a close bond," explains

Rob. "Elly and Bea have never been close, so Bea didn't meet Finn while he was going out with Elly. She has no idea who he really is – but he definitely knows all about her..."

Fans will have to tune in to find out what dastardly Finn is up to – though whatever it is, it's bound to spell bad news for the locals! And Rob hints that his alter ego is set to be even more wicked on this occasion.

"Finn definitely goes to the next level this time – he's capable of anything," grins the star. "I do a lot of musical theatre, and I'm usually cast in the role of the nice guy – such as Danny in Grease and Fiyero in Wicked – so it's lovely to tackle such a manipulative character for a change. I'm thoroughly enjoying playing the bad guy."

Finn returns to settle some old scores – this story is testament to how psychotic he really is!"

Summer Bay shoot-out!

COP COLBY TAKES AIM AND FIRES...

The search for kidnapped Ava turns dangerous this week as the police get involved – and shots are fired!

After Justin's first attempt to hand over a ransom goes wrong, cop Colby is keen to do whatever it takes to get Ava back. But when he learns that biker Boyd and his mum Hazel are behind the kidnap, he realises there may have to be sacrifices in order to keep Ava safe...

"Colby's plan is to set a trap for the kidnappers," explains Tim Franklin, who plays him. "He has a strike team ready to move in and save the hostage – even if that means the suspects could slip through the net."

Things seem to be going to plan as Willow hands over the ransom, and Boyd lets Ava go. But the situation descends into chaos when spooked Boyd suddenly grabs Willow, and Dean springs from the bushes to save her – prompting panicked Colby to reach for his firearm.

Willow and Ava are caught in the crossfire

"Colby has to make a split-second decision – kill for those you love, or watch them die," reveals Tim. "Afterwards, Colby is deeply troubled. He feels a mixture of guilt and shame about what's unfolded – but if he had the chance to do it again, I'm not sure he would change what happened."

Viewers will have to wait and see who cops a bullet – but Tim tells us he buckled under the pressure of filming the high-octane episode.

"Scenes with heightened emotion are challenging," he admits. "Embarrassingly, in the first take when I shot the gun, I made shooting sound effects from my mouth by accident. I blamed it on childhood conditioning!"

Sarah Ellis

"It was such a shock for me to be asked to return – I did wonder how on earth they were going to bring Finn back," continues Rob. "But the writers have done a magnificent job. This storyline is testament to just how psychotic Finn really is..."

David is free – and seeking justice! THE NET IS CLOSING IN ON WICKED JOSH...

This is the moment defiant David looks his rapist Josh square in the eye – and refuses to be a victim any more!

The pair face off after David is handed a two-year suspended sentence for his attack on Gary, allowing him to return home. Add to this the fact that Shona is set to expose Josh as a serial rapist, and the scheming predator is very much on the defence – and desperate to turn David's rage to his advantage...

"Josh wants to rile David because he knows he is on probation, and that he can get him in more trouble," explains Ryan Clayton, who plays Josh. "David loses his cool with him in public, and Josh knows that the more people who think that David is not all there, the better it will be for him!"

While Josh may think he has the upper hand, in reality he's on borrowed time – as Shona continues to dig into his past. Shona is keen to learn more about Josh's old haunts before he came to work at the garage – so when the mechanic mentions to Billy about a gym he used to go to, Shona is confident that she has a lead to pursue.

However, when Josh's former training partner calls in at Webster's Autos and informs him that Shona has been sniffing around, he realises that David's girlfriend is closing in on him.

"Shona is definitely a threat to Josh, and you'll see that she starts to cause problems for him," reveals Ryan. "He acts as if he's not bothered, but it definitely panics him that she could meet someone else from his past who he has done

“Shona is a threat to Josh – she starts to cause problems for him...”

How long before Alya realises Josh isn't the guy she thinks he is?

To add to David's misery, Josh commits to making his life a living hell in a bid to deflect Shona's attention. With that, he preys upon young Max, dripping poison in the lad's ear by telling him David doesn't love him as much as he does Lily.

When David finds out, he storms over to the café and grabs his tormentor by the scruff of the neck. Has he played straight into Josh's hands, or are the tables at last starting to turn on the Street's sick sex attacker?

Laura-Jayne Tyler

Shona makes a shocking discovery after talking to one of Josh's ex-colleagues this to. Two voices are louder than one, and that's an issue for him."

Shona has Josh on the ropes at this point – but even so, she's horrified upon learning the extent of his crimes after his former colleague, Dec, confirms that Josh raped him too.

Meanwhile at the Weatherfield Courts of Justice, David is relieved to walk away a free man. But when Shona comes to him with the news that he isn't the only person to have been attacked by Josh – and that now is the time to speak up – horrified David feels trapped in his never-ending nightmare once more.

But is she at risk?

Josh may have fooled the locals into thinking that he fancies Alya – but really their relationship is serving as an insurance policy for him in case David ever speaks out about his attack.

However, when she sees one too many fraught exchanges between Josh and Shona this week, her mind starts whirling – especially when Shona warns her that Josh isn't the guy she thinks he is.

Will Alya's growing suspicions lead her to make a startling realisation about her new man? And could it put her in danger if she does?

INSIDE SCOOP

Brenda's fiery revenge!

EMMERDALE | ITV THURSDAY

WILL SHE MAKE BOB PAY FOR WHAT HE'S DONE TO HER?

Love rat Bob sees his hopes for reconciliation with betrayed Brenda go up in smoke this week, when a rage-fuelled inferno blazes near the pirate ship – but is she behind it?

It's only been two weeks since their disastrous wedding day, and Brenda has been busy looking after Heath and Cathy while Bob spends time with new love Laurel.

After the humiliation she suffered at the hands of her former love, no one could blame Brenda for lashing out – however, this fire is burning proof of the pain that Bob has caused those who love him.

"It's hard to know what's worse – cheating on Brenda or marrying her out of pity," whispers our Emmerdale spy. "Brenda honestly thought that they were ready to commit to each other forever that day, but it ended up being a complete and utter fiasco.

"The fact that she was the person who had to call time on the marriage, and force Bob to be honest about his love for Laurel, made it even worse. Everybody knows their business, and Brenda feels ashamed – even though she's the innocent party!"

It's been tough on young Heath and Cathy, who've had their world turned upside down yet again. Losing their mum Viv was a horrible ordeal, but now they don't know what the future holds, as Bob and Brenda are no longer a couple.

He heads over to see them, knowing it will be difficult to explain the new situation and how they'll cope in the future. Bob and Brenda manage to be civil when he asks if he can come and pick up the rest of his things, but it's an incredibly awkward moment. The best Bob can hope for is that

Brenda called time on her and Bob's marriage soon after they tied the knot

“Something is on fire – Bob should be glad it's not his crown jewels!”

You can say that again!

OUR FAVOURITE RECENT SOAP QUOTES...

"No one likes a loser, Bill. Are you a man or one of them metrosexuals? You need to sweep Honey off her feet. Passion... Flowers... And I can do you a deal on a nice little bottle of oh-de-toilet."

That's 'eau de toilette' Mo, love. French for toilet water.

"You're bossy. I'm knackered. Of course we look like we're married."

No sex and lots of nagging – it's almost as if they've been married for years, not weeks!

"My mum has OCD as well – the proper kind. For her it's light switches – flick, flick, flick, flick, like a strobe. I call it the OC Disco. Sometimes I take the bulbs out to wind her up. It's dead funny."

We love Corrie. Always so respectful of issue-based health storylines.

"And why are your precious feelings so important, you vain selfish, horrible man? You disgust me!"

You tell him, Brenda!

"I saw you snogging Joe's face off yesterday. So, if you don't want Mum to know, I've got a few demands..."

Half-Tate, half-Dingle – Noah is going to be a force to be reckoned with in Emmerdale!

"I couldn't bear to lose you the way that the Connors have lost Aidan."

"I came so close, but I've told you, and I love you. I love you so much. And if today has taught me anything, it's... Thank God, I want to live."

The way the Aidan and David storylines crossed over this week was pure soap poetry.

Brenda doesn't turn his kids against him – though it looks as if shots have been fired when he and Laurel see smoke coming from the pirate ship and go over to investigate.

"Something is on fire, and the blaze is burning bright," gasps our gossip. "Bob should be glad that it's not his crown jewels! If he and Laurel were already feeling bad about what they've put Brenda through, their guilty consciences will be worse after this. They've been busy telling themselves that their love is worth all this misery. But seeing the fire – and knowing someone felt hurt enough to start it – will take time to accept."

Will Bob and Brenda ever manage to be friends again?

Panicked Michelle rushes to Robert's aid after he falls to the floor

Robert's shock heart attack!

WILL MICHELLE UNCOVER HIS STEROID SECRET AS HE SUDDENLY COLLAPSES?

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

Poor Michelle is horrified this week, when fiancé Robert collapses in agony, and is rushed to hospital.

The gym-mad chef drops to the floor clutching his chest, and Michelle is distraught at the thought of losing the man she loves. What she doesn't know is that troubled Robert has continued to use steroids – despite promising her that he's put his addiction behind him. So with just days to go until they say their vows, big trouble is on the horizon.

"This could break them," warns our Coronation Street insider. "Michelle stood by Robert after he admitted to using steroids, but he's carried on lying to her – and this is no exception. She doesn't get to see the results of the tests the doctors do at the hospital, and instead has to rely on what Robert tells her, but he says he's just pushed himself too hard at the gym. Michelle trusts Robert – she's going to marry him, after all – but her husband-to-be is hiding a terrible secret, and it could ruin their happiness."

While the hospital drama is sobering for them both, Michelle doesn't have much time to worry as son Ryan arrives home for the wedding. She's delighted to have her boy by her side, and when Robert's best man has to drop out, Ryan offers to step in. Michelle's worried that with Ryan being home and taking on a major role at the wedding, it could harm the fragile relationship she's trying to build with her other son, Ali. They've only just started to make progress, and Ryan's return could shatter that. Ali has bigger things on his mind, though, as he's seen Robert's medical records and knows that he's been lying.

"There's no love lost between Ali and Ryan, but this situation with Robert is a big deal," says our snitch. "Ali knows too much, and he has to decide if he'll let Michelle walk down the aisle in ignorance, or if he should break patient-

Ali has to decide if he'll let Michelle walk down the aisle in ignorance"

STARS in their eyes!

While there's bad atmosphere at the stag do, at least there are good tunes! The event is a music-themed fancy dress affair, with Robert taking on the guise of Freddie Mercury,

Steve in the role of Boy George, and Michelle's rival sons Ryan and Ali as warring Gallagher brothers Noel and Liam.

But with so much going on, will the night end on a bum note?!

doctor confidentiality. It weighs heavily on him, and he has no one to share this with – that's until he has a drink and starts to confide in Steve!"

If Robert thought a stag do involving both Ali and Ryan would be awkward, he has more misery to endure as Michelle's ex-husband arrives, too! At the party, Ali opens up to Steve about his stepdad-to-be's drug use. Steve can't believe it when Ali explains what has been going on, and that Michelle knows very little about the reality of the situation. While Steve has no room to talk when it comes to deceiving her, he's deeply worried about Michelle's future happiness if she goes into a marriage with Robert unaware of what she's taking on.

Now Ali and Steve are faced with a decision: tell Michelle everything and risk her calling off the wedding, or keep quiet and let her remain in the dark. Will conflicted Steve take it upon himself to intervene?

HOT ROD'S A HERO

This may be an odd thing to say, but Emmerdale's Rodney is my hero! I really admire his lust for life – as a man of a certain age myself, I wish I had half his energy. Maybe I should book a ticket to Ibiza, and see if my waistcoat and cravat have the same effect on the ladies!

BYE-BYE, RY RY

I'm so glad that Ryan's killing spree has finally come to an end in Hollyoaks. And thank goodness they actually found his body – I thought it would be like Corrie's Phelan and he would still be out there somewhere. There have been way too many serial killers in that village over the past few years – they need to give it a rest now.

I'm just gutted that Rick Astley has gone now that Kim has been rescued from the school!

EastEnders again. He is handsome, hard-working, loves his kids, and has been put-upon for too long. He should be admired and fought over. It would be better if he got back with Stacey for the sake of the children. However, he deserves a fresh start with someone new.

📍 | Manisa

I'm sensing you might want to throw your hat into the ring...

Imran should be the main man – not an also-ran!

GIVE 'IM A CHANCE

Isn't it about time that Corrie's Imran got a plot of his own? He's been hanging around on the periphery of everyone else's stories for far too long, and he's way too gorgeous to be wasted just lurking in the background. He'd make a great love interest for Leanne – she's in desperate need of a man!

📍 | John, Hartlepool

The women of the cobbles should be queuing up to date Imran – he's quite the catch!

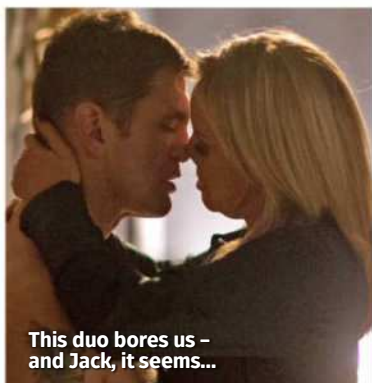

ELL OF A MATCH

When will Neighbours' Mark and Elly stop dancing around each other and just get it together? It's clear to see they are the perfect match! If Mark doesn't snap up Elly soon, then someone else will.

📍 | Jackie

With wicked Finn back in town, Elly is going to need an ex-cop around!

This duo bores us – and Jack, it seems...

TO MEL AND BACK

Do the EastEnders writers really think that we viewers give two hoots about Mel and Jack's lame flirtation? There's zero chemistry between them, and this whole back and forth with them over whether or not they like each other is just boring. I wish Mel would turn on her designer heels and strut right back out of Walford again.

👍 | Lorna, Haverhill

Mel has far more chemistry with Max than she does with Jack...

ASTONI STARS

I love the Astoni family in Home and Away, so their reaction to Maggie's cancer has been utterly heartbreaking to watch. But what I admire most about them is the way they pull together in a crisis – the actors who play them have a great rapport on screen, and really do seem like a convincing family.

👍 | Emilie

Something tells me there are tough times ahead for your favourite Bay clan, Emilie.

GERRY HAT-TRICK

Uh-oh! Now Emmerdale's Gerry has found out the truth about Lachlan and the car crash, I hope he has the sense to keep his mouth shut about it.

Lachlan is out of control, so who knows what he would do if he discovered Gerry was on to him? Gerry should get the first bus to Hotten – and keep going...

👍 | Nancy

Is Lachy going to kill again?

The BIG DEBATE!

ILLUSTRATION: ROD DAVIS

AIDAN'S HIDDEN PAIN

It was a brave move for Corrie to tackle male suicide – but judging from the reaction to Aidan's death, the soap has sparked a conversation over something that really needs to be talked about...

Shayne Ward's portrayal of suicidal Aidan was powerful, compelling and utterly heartbreaking. So many of Aidan's family and friends are asking why they didn't see the signs, but I know from personal experience that people hide their true feelings so well and, in many cases, nothing anyone can say or do will change the outcome. I really hope this story will encourage more men and their families to discuss male suicide, and save some lives.

👍 | Ann, Runcorn

When a person commits suicide, they don't just decide randomly that they'll end their own life. Sometimes for the person suffering in silence, unfortunately suicide is the only one way out – and they may not want their family to read the signs.

👍 | Mitchell, Abingdon

Eva was so convincingly grief-stricken at the news of Aidan's death that I cried with her! Also, Johnny's devastation at the loss of his son was truly moving, and left a lump in my throat.

👍 | Linda, Sheffield

But some of you wish the story hadn't ended Aidan's time in Weatherfield...

Although I applaud this storyline for highlighting the problem of male suicide, I must admit that I wish the Coronation Street writers hadn't chosen Aidan as the character to do it. I thought that he could have grown into a Mike Baldwin-type character, and had a lot of potential as part of the Connor family.

👍 | Claire, Chorley

THE BIG
interview

“Gary makes wrong decisions – with the right intentions!”

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

AS GARY GOES HEADLONG INTO THE BREACH
AGAINST PHELAN,
MIKEY NORTH BACKS UP HIS ALTER EGO...

Gary is the one person who has never had the wool pulled over his eyes about Phelan,” Mikey

North reminds us, as his determined alter ego finally tracks down his nemesis in Wales this week (see p8). “Phelan has fooled a lot of people, so it’s great that Gary and the Windassess are set to be a part of his finale – it’s like the story is coming full circle.”

The Gary who bravely risks life and limb in a determined bid to save his nearest and dearest from the scourge of Phelan’s evil deeds, is a changed man from the mixed-up ex-soldier who arrived on the Street back in 2008. But as Mikey settles down with us to chat about Gary’s current crusade, he believes his character is still living and learning...

“Gary’s a good guy – and that’s what’s changed about him over the years,” insists the 31-year-old. “Back at the start he was that brash, hard man who just wanted to fight everyone – but he’s grown up. I do think he’s a good man now, but there are still those traits that we saw when he first arrived.

“Gary makes the wrong decisions, but with the right intent,” adds the actor. “He just doesn’t see what’s going to unravel afterwards.

However, this time, everything he’s doing is for his mum, Anna.”

Since Anna is behind bars, serving a five-year sentence after Phelan framed her for pushing Seb off a ladder, Gary is understandably hell-bent on bringing his family’s nemesis to justice – whatever the cost!

“When Gary gets the tip-off about Phelan’s whereabouts, he knows he can’t stop himself from going after him,” admits Mikey. “He didn’t really think that Phelan was still alive, but in some ways he feels that everything that’s happened with Phelan is because of him. And once the thought is in Gary’s head, he doesn’t let it go.

He’s behind you: Gary is on the hunt for wicked Phelan

Que sera, Sarah: Gary’s other half has been a pillar of strength for him in recent times

“He knows this guy has ruined the lives of so many people, and put so many others in danger, so he’s got to see it through. But really, he should just stay put and call the police!”

It’s while Gary is trying to track down Weatherfield’s most wanted man that Nicola – who’s due to have his baby at any moment – is being rushed into hospital after falling down stairs. While Gary was initially reluctant to accept Nicola’s pregnancy in the wake of their one-night stand, it’s his girlfriend Sarah who’s helped him get over his hang-ups...

“Sarah has been a major part of Gary coming to terms with Nicola’s pregnancy,” agrees Mikey, who is father to one-year-old Archie. “She’s helped him to focus. Gary and Sarah’s relationship has revealed another side to him, and the characters work really well together – they always get a good response from viewers.

“Their relationship is definitely the best thing that’s happened to me at Corrie,” continues the star. “Tina O’Brien [who plays Sarah] is great.”

It remains to be seen whether Gary can finally find closure on the Phelan saga. But the actor admits he feels incredibly proud of how far his troubled Corrie character has come...

“I like Gary – he’s a lot more rounded now than he once was,” shares Mikey. “The good thing for me as an actor is that it gives me so much scope. Gary can be a hard man – he can even be a criminal in some ways – but everything he does is always done with his heart in the right place!”

Allison Jones

Gary just can’t stop himself from going after Phelan!

I’ll be there for YOU!

Can Gary and David call a truce?

When Gary first arrived in Weatherfield, he and next-door neighbour David were arch-rivals. Fast forward a decade, and Gary identifies his former foe as a man in need of a friend...

“Gary can recognise himself in David,” reveals Mikey. “When I first started at Corrie, David and Gary were billed as the new Mike Baldwin and Ken Barlow in the feuding stakes. It hasn’t helped that Gary’s going out with David’s sister and got someone else pregnant – but Gary can see David is suffering.

“He thinks David is going through PTSD, which Gary’s been through too. Gary feels guilty, and wants to redeem himself to the Platts. But the main thing is he feels for David’s kids. That’s why he wants to help him.”

“Joe loves Debbie... even more than he loves himself!”

ROSS HAS A GUN,
BUT JOE IS ARMED WITH THE TRUTH – AND NED PORTEOUS
RECKONS HIS ALTER
EGO WILL KEEP DEBBIE'S SECRET...

It's hard to believe that bitter and twisted Joe Tate is capable of real love. But in recent weeks, we've seen him shrug off his nasty persona to reveal a softer side to little brother Noah and partner Debbie. It seems Joe has left himself open to love, and that's changing him for the better.

However, Debbie has a dark secret that could threaten to destroy their happiness forever, and Joe has been protecting it by paying off acid attacker Simon to get rid of the evidence. And as things get serious this week with Ross on his tail (see p16), Joe is in big trouble. But his real-life alter ego Ned Porteous is enjoying his character's latest misadventures...

“Being in a scene doing Russian roulette with Michael Parr [Ross] is definitely fun,” grins the star. “Any scene with a high dramatic intensity is great, especially if you are working with an actor like Mike, who is just wicked at these types of things. We spent the whole day filming the scenes at Home Farm with a team of Kiss of death: Will someone die in the manor house shoot-out?

Tate of play: What will Joe's next move be against Ross?

armourers and stunt co-ordinators. Fortunately, the whole team are super-professional, so they don't let you get into a state where you might feel uncomfortable – they make sure you know that nothing can go wrong!”

Of course, things are about to go very wrong for Joe now that Ross is gunning for him. But how far will the Home Farm head honcho go to protect Debbie? We know someone is shot – but would Joe take a bullet for the object of his affections?

“When you love someone, I like to think you do everything you can to keep them out of harm's way – even when a gun is pointed at you!” muses Ned. “I don't think he will reveal Debbie is behind the acid attack. Joe actually loves Debbie more than he loves himself!”

While Ned and Mike are good pals off screen, there's no love lost between Joe and Ross – who are both infatuated with the same woman. And despite his character being the man Debbie is currently with, Ned reckons that Joe feels insecure about her past.

“I think his jealousy is rooted in the fact that he knows Debbie and Ross have a much deeper and richer history than he has with her,” explains the actor. “You can't match that, and there is going to be a little bit of jealousy that he doesn't know her as well. Joe has always viewed Debbie as this force to be reckoned with – I believe she is the first woman he's ever met who's truly challenged him.”

It will be interesting to see what this shock shooting will mean for the love triangle going forward. For Ned, it's building up to be an exciting time.

“It's cool having a twist, and of course leaving it on such a cliff-edge of a scene – it should hopefully get a really good reaction,” he grins. “Joe is on Debbie's side – she rescued him from the quarry so he'd rescue her back, no question. If there's an Emmerdale without Debbie Dingle in it, I think Joe would struggle to find reasons to stick around.”

Jan's WORLD!

Di Botcher reveals all about the newcomer...

There's a new boss in charge of Holby City ED's paramedics this week – and she's not someone Sam or Iain want to mess with! We catch up with Casualty's Di Botcher to find out more about her fearsome alter ego Jan...

What can you tell us about Jan?

The first words that come to mind are human bulldog! She's determined, tenacious and single-minded – but she's loyal as well. She doesn't suffer fools gladly. She's not sentimental, she's too practical for that, but she's got a big heart. I like her very much.

What is she like as a boss?

She's there to come down hard on her team, but it's like a family. You can criticise your own family, but if anybody else does, you'll fight to the death for them. She quickly realises that Sam and Iain are good people – as long as they remember that there's a pecking order and she's top dog!

And she already knows Charlie and Duffy...

Jan's been around the block a few times, so she knows them from the past. She has a lovehate relationship with Charlie, but Duffy just laughs at her – she thinks Jan is outrageous! My first scene was with Cathy [Shipton, aka Duffy] and she was gorgeous.

Are you settling in at Casualty?

There are wonderful people here. I didn't really know what I was going into, but I was bowled over by how friendly everyone is. I've had people knocking on my dressing room door who I've not even filmed scenes with, introducing themselves and giving me a hug. It's lovely.

How is it playing a paramedic?

I love it! We have the best of both worlds because we're often in the hospital, but we also get to go out and about to different places, which keeps the job fresh. It's made me want to do a first aid course – just think how many lives could be saved if we all knew what to do.

What else is coming up for Jan?

There will be more focus on the paramedics, and what it's like to be the first responder on the scene. Playing a paramedic is not something I would have ever thought of for myself, so I'm thrilled that someone else thought of it for me!

Sarah Ellis

Who's the boss?: Jan will rule the paramedics with an iron fist

Mother's RUINED?

AS DEE DEE'S CONDITION WORSENS, ALEX FLETCHER WONDERS IF DIANE CAN COPE – AND REVEALS HER REAL-LIFE TEARS...

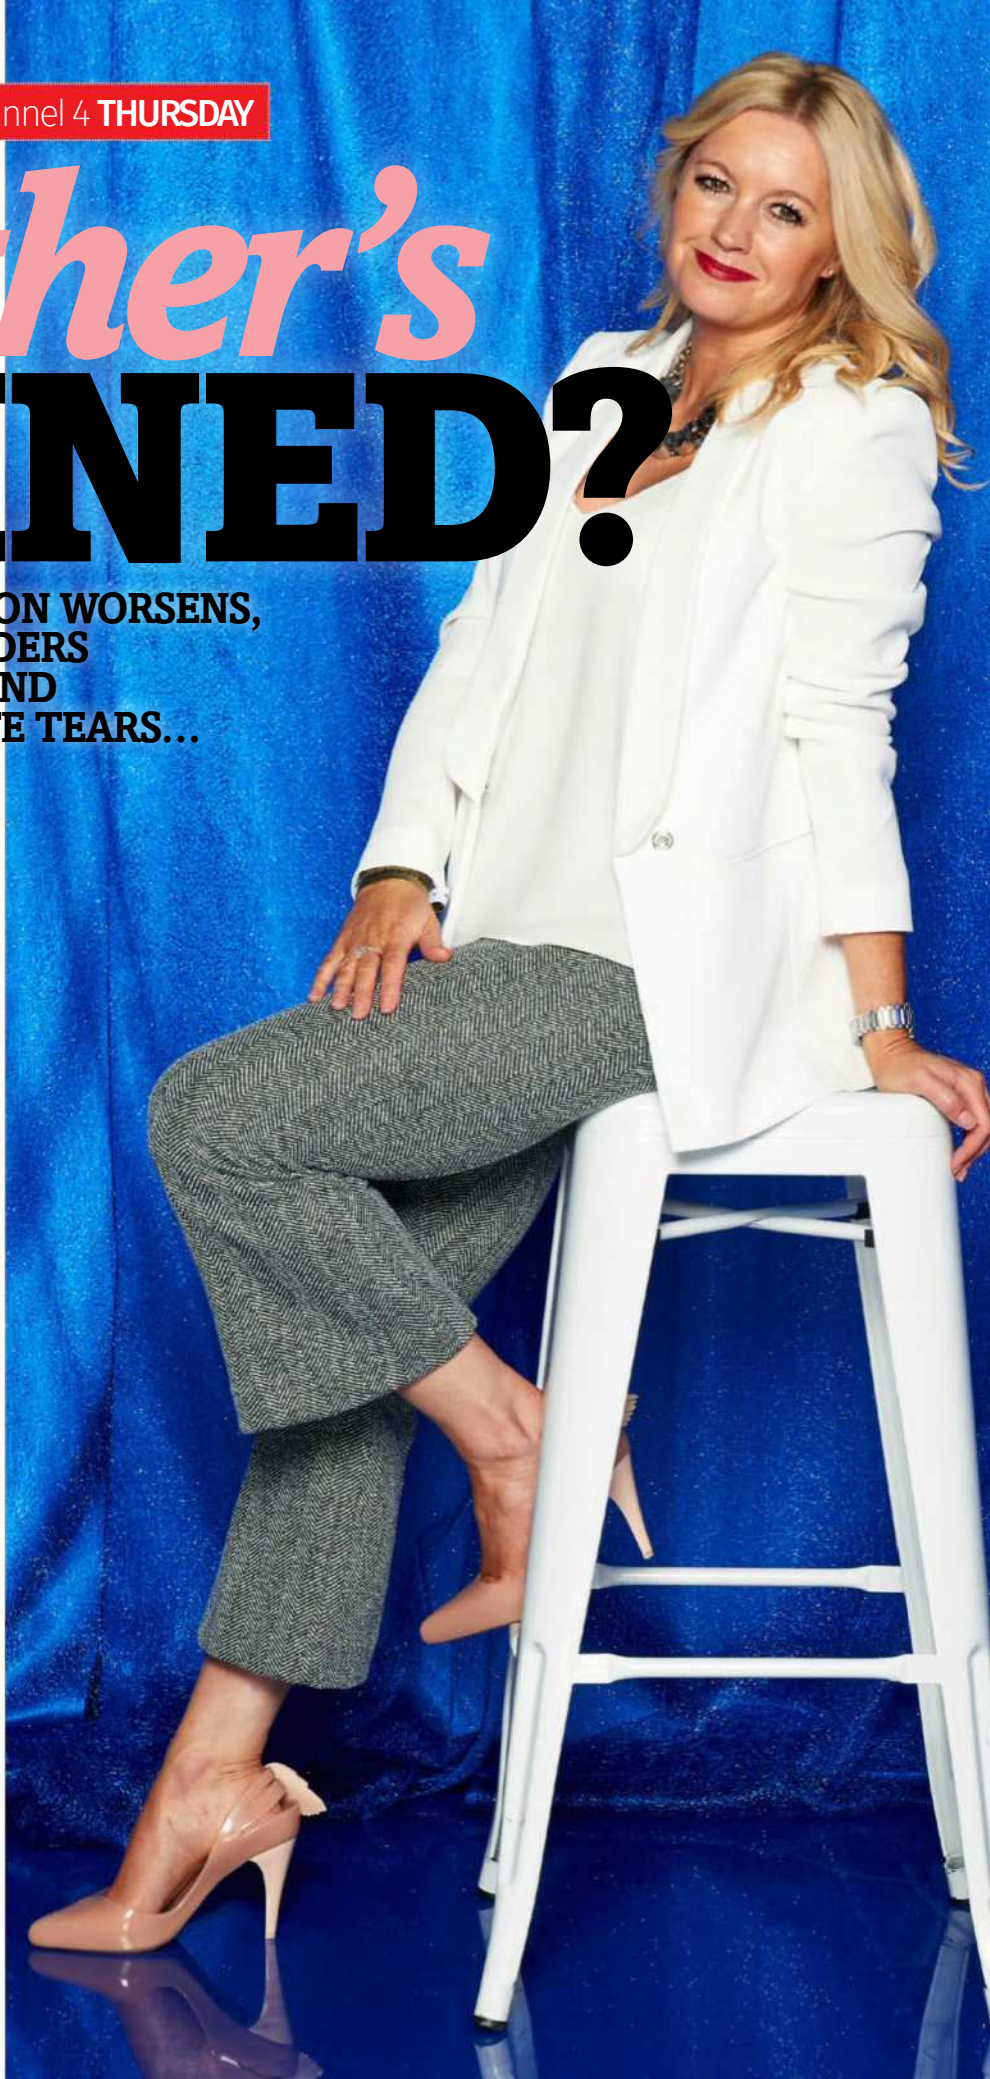

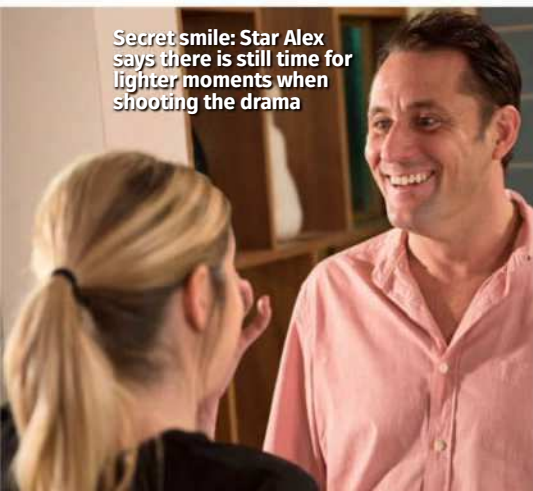

Diane Hutchinson is living through every parent's worst nightmare at the moment, as she deals with a seriously ill child. And when Inside Soap settles down for a chat with our old pal Alex Fletcher, it's clear that despite Diane's heartache, the actress is enjoying her alter ego's dramas...

"Diane doesn't hold back how she feels, does she?" chuckles the star. "I kind of think, 'Oh, Diane, just wind your neck in sometimes!' Even I get the scripts and wonder how I'm going to make it work! It's actually not that depressing when we're shooting, because we have light moments within it. It's hard work, but it's good."

While Diane's daughter Dee Dee is undergoing treatment for her autoimmune encephalitis, the pressure is mounting for her and Tony. Husband and wife are constantly arguing, even to the point that their poorly daughter has to tell her mum and dad off! And Alex is full of praise for her little co-star...

"Young Lacey Findlow, who plays Dee Dee, is such a fantastic little actress that Secret smile: Star Alex says there is still time for lighter moments when shooting the drama me and Nick [Pickard, who plays Tony], are just reacting off the back of what she's doing," laughs the star, who began acting in her teens in Brookside. "She's giving us tips, actually. The other week, we stalled in the middle of a scene, and I said to her, 'Lacey, you forgot to say your line', and she said, 'No, Alex, you forgot to say yours!' – and she was right! Seven years of age!"

Part of the pressure on the Hutchinson family comes from the fact that Dee Dee isn't the pair's biological daughter, and while Tony thinks birth-mum Tegan should be told how serious things are, Diane is digging her heels in.

"I think, because Tegan's been in that coma, Diane doesn't want to put her in the position where she's making any decisions," sighs Alex. "The girl hasn't been well enough, first and foremost!"

Will the accidental baby swap of Dee Dee with Tegan's daughter, Rose, come back to haunt everyone though?

"Well, not at the minute," teases Alex, smiling. "I can say I've filmed some really lovely scenes with Jess [Ellis, who plays Tegan], where we're trying to do the right thing by Dee Dee, putting all our feelings to one side."

It's clear that there's still a few more twists and turns to come in this story, and Alex is full of praise for the scripts that she's working on.

"I was reading scripts in bed," she tells us. "I was a week ahead of myself. With the really heavy stuff coming up, I like to be prepared. With one scene, I sat and cried in my bed! I then tweeted the writer, 'Cheers for this – I'm actually sitting at home, sobbing!'"

Since Alex has two kids of her own – 13-year-old Yasmin and Hanson, who's nearly two – we wondered if it's difficult to leave the drama of such an emotional storyline at work.

"Yes! It is! Loads of people are really good at switching off, but I'm not," confesses the star. "Also, as Lacey has to have all the little tubes stuck to her, and the intravenous drip in her little hand, part of my job, I think, is to just make sure that she's okay. Nick and I are really conscious of that.

"When I get home, my eyes are puffy from a long day, standing about, crying," adds Alex. "So now with the lighter nights, I take the baby out in the pram, just to wind down a little bit. Then I go home – and collapse in a heap!"

Michael Cregan

Little Lacey, who plays Dee Dee, gives me tips!

QUEEN for a day!

We asked Alex what she would do with her regal powers if she were the ultimate ruler over the Hollyoaks set...

"Lauren McQueen who plays Lily, would be my lady in waiting! She went to my school in Liverpool and she's gorgeous! I love her to bits!"

"Lysette Anthony cracks me up – she'd be my jester. Me and her are worlds apart, but we have a laugh. She's bonkers, but she's brilliant, and I love her."

"I think flatulence is quite bad! I'd definitely ban that! I'm not going to name names, but one of my co-stars is a bit trumpy on set!"

"I would have Nick Pickard as my king! I can't not pick him – he's a total legend, isn't he?"

10 totally true FACTS about... Danny Miller

YOUR InsideSoap BRIEFING ON THE MAN BEHIND EMMERDALE'S AARON...

1 Daniel Benedict Miller was born to parents Vincent and Andrea on 2 January 1991 in Stockport in Greater Manchester. As with so many of our favourite soap stars, he first came to our attention in the long-running BBC children's drama Grange Hill, in which he played pupil Kyle Brown during the 2007 season.

4 Danny left Emmerdale between 2012 and 2014, and wasn't short of work – playing Waddington in ITV's police drama Scott & Bailey, Tom in ITV drama Lightfields, and Will in BBC1's big-budget production of classic novel Jamaica Inn. But in the end, he couldn't resist the lure of the Woolpack!

2 Danny and the Miller clan – his parents, sister Lucy and brother Paul – appeared on All Star Family Fortunes back in 2011, where secrets from the actor's past came to light. When he was just five years old, Danny played the part of an angel in his school Nativity play – but his mother revealed that “he was a little devil in the classroom,” and that she and Danny's dad “were forever having to go and see the headmaster”. We hope he's a bit better behaved these days!

3 Danny made his Emmerdale debut in 2008, becoming the second actor to portray Aaron Livesy – taking over the role from Danny Webb, who had previously played the teenager. Aaron's most memorable storylines during the past decade have seen the lad come to terms with his sexuality, help his lover Robert cover up Katie Sugden's death, and be sent to jail for GBH.

5 Over the past decade, Danny has surely become one of the most decorated soap stars, having won the Best Actor gong multiple times at the British Soap Awards, TV Choice Awards, and – of course – the Inside Soap Awards. In fact, by our count, he must have at least 20 trophies at home for his portrayal of Aaron – so we hope he has a big mantelpiece!

losing a loved one. You can visit www.onceuponasmile.org.uk for more information on the charity's sterling work.

7 Although his alter ego got hitched (kind of) to Robert Sugden last year, Danny is uncertain whether he'd want to get married in real life – because he reckons it's far too expensive! "I'd need convincing, because it's become a thing now where people spend £20,000, £30,000 or even £40,000 on their wedding," bemoaned the star, who dated Hollyoaks actress Kirsty-Leigh Porter (Leela) for several years until 2015. "I can think of so many other things I'd spend that money on than just one day."

However, he did realise he might be making a mistake. "I will get zero dates now, as everyone loves a wedding!"

6 Danny is a huge fan of Liverpool Football Club, and one of his proudest moments came a few years back when he got to meet Kop legend John Barnes! So we're sure Danny will be off to Kiev on 26 May to see his beloved Reds aim to be crowned European champions for a sixth time, when they take on Real Madrid in the Champions League Final. Danny is a keen amateur footballer himself, and often takes part in celebrity charity matches.

8 Together with his fellow actor best friend Daniel Jillings, Danny co-founded children's bereavement charity Once Upon A Smile in 2011, in memory of former Emmerdale producer Gavin Blyth. The charity strives to offer emotional and practical support for bereaved families, and was set up when the two pals realised there was a lack of support for families after 9 Although he claims to be a hopeless singer, Danny's not too bad at miming! Along with many of his Emmerdale chums, he mimed along to Tony Christie's 1971 hit (Is This The Way To) Amarillo for a special charity video.

10 Danny confesses that his one big phobia is heights! In fact, he once had the option to do a skydiving stunt for Emmerdale, but turned down the chance – leaving Marc Silcock, who played Aaron's partner Jackson Walsh, to undertake the challenge on his own! Danny has since said he regretted his decision – so maybe it's time for Emmerdale bosses to give Aaron a literal cliffhanger?

Fit for a Princess!

As the Royal wedding takes place, might former actress Meghan Markle take frock inspiration from the soaps?

The Beth...

With Harry and Meghan children of the 80s, maybe a throwback frock would be a fun choice. That decade never went out of fashion (or is it just us that thinks that?)!

The Moira...

With similar hair to Moira's, Meghan would look sensational in red! But rather than dark, brooding Cain, Meghan has a flame-haired fella to stand next to – colour-clash alert!

The Rita...

If Meghan wants to go regal, she can glide down the aisle in a stately fashion sporting this number. Grandma Elizabeth would approve!

The Roxy...

Silver is a brave choice for a wedding dress, and perhaps you need the tarnished reputation of Roxy Mitchell to pull it off properly.

We think Megs should probably stick to something a little more traditional!

The Jane...

Jane's green frock was appropriate – as she was marrying toad-ish Ian Beale! We're not sure it would suit a royal occasion, but the bouquet is nice!

The Charity...

Meghan is an actress, so surely showgirl isn't such a stretch? Then again, how might her new in-laws react to this racy feathers combo?

The Sally...

While Meghan is going from actress to princess, Sally went from machinist to mayor, so she probably feels Megs suits her style!

The Lily...

Lacy, simple and pretty is very much in vogue these days, but is young Lily's look a little too plain for glamorous Meghan?

The Whitney...

We think Whit's 'fairy-tale princess' look could be just the ticket for Meghan! The lacy decoration looks elegant and classy, and the whole get-up is set off perfectly by that silver tiara – just what you need when you're becoming a member of the Royal family!

The Becky...

The eyes of the world will be on Meghan on her big day, so perhaps something like Becky's first wedding outfit would make the eyes of the world pop out of their sockets!

ORPHEUS PLEDGER

Home and Away's Mason Morgan

...faces your questions!

Home and Away's Mason has just gone back to uni to resume his medical degree – and star Orpheus has been studying hard to answer our reader questions...

"What was your first day on Home and Away like?"

Not like I thought it would be! It was on location, in the middle of nowhere, and it was about 40 degrees. It was amazing, but it didn't feel like I was introduced to Home and Away properly, as I wasn't on the set. It took a few weeks to meet the other cast members.

"Be honest – do you just spend all day on set surfing and sunbathing?"

Absolutely not! I used to have a tattoo on my arm – I've had it removed now – but the make-up department would take 45 minutes each morning covering it up. That meant there was no swimming or going near the water for me in between scenes. There are times where you can have long, stretched-out days – but you are in one of the most beautiful places in the world, so there's not much to complain about.

"Be honest – do you spend all day on set surfing?"

"Which of your screen siblings is most like their character in real life?"

Olivia Deeble is quite like Raffy in real life – she's pretty bubbly and in tune with the character. But it's a hard one because everyone brings an element of themselves to the people they play. Luckily we all get on so well, which is great – it was nice not to have to come into the show alone. Our friendship is pretty unbreakable now.

Keeping fit: Orpheus is a gym freak – but not as much as Mason!

"Do you spend as much time in the gym as Mason?"

I do like going to the gym – but not as much as Mason! For me it's a way of life, so it's not just about going to the gym, it's about being active in general, and being tuned in to what things are good for you. I have such a crazy schedule, so sometimes it can be hard to fit in a training session every day.

"How did it feel to be nominated for Cosmopolitan's Bachelor of the Year?"

It was a bit of fun, wasn't it? I just try to be myself, and if someone wants to nominate me as Bachelor of the Year for doing that, then that's something I can be proud of. There was a ceremony at a nice venue in Sydney – it was a great night out. It was definitely a positive thing and good publicity, so I was honoured to be in the running.

Family matters: Orpheus loves to work with the rest of the Morgan clan

Noah's mark Orpheus made his soap debut in Neighbours

“What was the best thing about being in Neighbours [Orpheus played Noah Parkin in 2011]?”

Just being in Neighbours, I would say. It's the same attitude I have towards being in Home and Away – they're both shows with such raw histories, they're the two most successful soaps in Australia.

“Do you prefer your hair when it's longer or shorter?”

Well, it was long when I came into Home and Away, but I needed a bit of a change – and I thought going shorter was best for my character at that point. But now I'm getting to the point with Mason where I'm going to grow it a bit longer. It's a long process, though, so it'll take another seven months, I'd say.

“What's your favourite thing to do when you're not at work?”

I don't get much downtime, so I like to utilise my days off to go and do things I haven't done before. I'll go rock climbing, or pick up a skateboard. It's all about feeding the inner child for me, that's what keeps me happy.

“Who have you learnt the most from at Home and Away?”

I'd say my screen family. Individually they are at different stages in their lives. They all bring strong characteristics to the show, and I've learnt a lot from all of them.

“Is it true that you started to act when you were just eight?”

Yes, I just decided it was what I wanted to do, and I was so lucky to have my mum on board. I stopped for a while after doing [kids' TV show] Silversun, when I was 11 or 12. But acting has given me a great outlook on life.

Sister act: Olivia Deeble is just as bubbly as Raffy in real life!

Mother knows best: Orpheus' mum supported his acting ambitions

“Is it true you started to act when you were just eight?”

“Who's the biggest prankster on the Home and Away set?”

Probably me! I don't like to be in situations where there's tension, so I try to relieve things by having some fun. We're all weird and crazy in this job anyway! I'll tell you who else is a joker – Ray [Meagher, aka Alf]. He's always so quick and witty, but he does it in a professional way. He's on form!

“Do you fancy moving to the US like a lot of your former co-stars?”

It sounds a cliché – but when I look at my entire life and the depth of my dreams, that just seems like the best thing to do. It's going to happen regardless, because that's what I want more than anything. There's no reason why I won't do it; it just so happens that that's what others have done as well.

“How was visiting London for Home and Away's 30th anniversary?”

I'd always wanted to go to London! I was brought up watching The Bill on ABC, as it was my dad's favourite TV show – so to get to go to London was amazing.

“What's coming up for Mason?”

There's a coming-of-age story in the pipeline. We've been throwing little bits in over my two years on Home and Away, all the ingredients – and now it's time to cook. It's going to be big!

“What's it like working with Buddy the dog? And do you have any pets yourself?”

...asks reader Ethel Bradley from Oldham

Any day that Buddy is on set, there's a really good vibe. He's well trained – sometimes it can be hard working with him, because he's not human, but he does what he does very well. It's really cool having him around. I've always been a dog person, up until recently, when I fell in love with one specific cat. It had no home and no chip or collar, so I decided to let it stay with me!

The LATEST stories, your FAVOURITE stars...

It seems it's not just Nancy that Darren needs to watch out for when his affair with Mandy is revealed in Hollyoaks! Real-life alter ego Ashley Taylor Dawson has explained his sons have not been happy with him and his telly exploits...

"My three boys were in the living room when Hollyoaks was on," recalls the star. "It was a scene where Darren kisses Mandy, and their little faces just dropped. The youngest one just smiled at me – he obviously thought it was hilarious – but the eldest one came up and proper smacked me! He went straight over to his mummy and said, 'You can't do that!'"

It seems all has been forgiven, though – as Ashley and the boys were jumping for joy on the inflatables at the opening of Inflata Nation Theme Park in Chester. We reckon that Nancy will need to go along to get the spring back in her step!

PARTY ANIMAL

HUGH GRANT AND BEN WHISHAW
STAR IN THE TRUE STORY OF AN MP
AND THE PLOT TO KILL HIS EX-LOVER...

In the 1960s and 70s, the leader of the Liberal Party, Jeremy Thorpe, was a popular and charismatic figure. He'd campaigned hard to turn around the fortunes of his party and had transformed them into a credible threat to the Conservatives and Labour – but behind his political success he had a serious problem: Norman Scott.

Jeremy was well aware that if his homosexuality became common knowledge, it would mean the end of his political career – and Norman, who he'd had a relationship with in the early 1960s, was threatening to go public with the details of their affair. This three-part drama explores the fallout, which led to a drastic attempt to keep Norman quiet...

"This was all happening while I was at school," explains Hugh Grant, who plays Jeremy in the miniseries. "The script was so up my alley – I love things that are funny and sad at the same time, which rejoice in eccentricity."

"I didn't know anything about the real story – it was before I was born," adds Ben Whishaw, who plays Norman. "I had no idea who Jeremy Thorpe was, but I thought the script was delightful and very complicated and funny."

With no sign of Norman's demands abating, Jeremy sought help from political allies and a plot was hatched to silence Norman for good — by hiring a hitman. However, the hit only succeeded in killing Norman's dog Rinka. Word about the plot soon got out and Jeremy found himself in court charged with conspiracy and incitement to murder.

"The more I read about Thorpe, the more I realised that many politicians are in show business," muses Hugh. "All of his life he was a star – as a student at Oxford, he was very determined, with a terrifying ambition to rise, rise, rise. But then, of course, he had this inner turmoil about being gay and what that felt like in the years when this was illegal, so there was this strange and complex contrast between his blithe exterior and his promiscuity."

Although Jeremy was eventually acquitted in court,

“ I LOVE THINGS THAT ARE FUNNY AND SAD AT THE SAME TIME” HUGH

the scandal meant the end of his career in politics. He mostly retired from public life, and died in 2014 aged 85. Norman, however, is still alive and Ben met him to discuss his part in the story.

"We had lunch and it was very instructive," he recalls. "You just ask him a question and it sets him off. I didn't want to try and do an impersonation of him, but just get a feeling of him and how he remembers the whole thing – he's a very flirty, funny, attractive 70-something-year-old!"

Top Of The Pops

If my wife is busy making dinner or I'm at home on my own, I love to watch old episodes of Top Of The Pops. It's on BBC4 and I record them all – I go in to have a look and find that I've got 20 of them on there! I just love them for a trip down memory lane – I really enjoy those.

This is from way back, but I've watched Happy Valley on catch-up and thought it was really, really good. I was just blown away by it! Sarah Lancashire is such a wonderful actress that it was like watching a documentary – it didn't feel like it was a drama at all. I've also got into Key & Peele through my daughters – they watch it on YouTube. I think what they're doing is very good and very exciting. And, of course, one of them [Jordan Peele] wrote and directed the hit film Get Out.

The Generation Game

When I was growing up, I used to love watching The Generation Game. I was always a big fan of Bruce Forsyth, especially in those early days. And I had the hots for Cilla Black! I had a real crush on her, which I had the privilege of telling her when I got to meet her years later.

If I could be on any other show, I'd love to be on Taskmaster. Or on Room 101 – I love that show. I've even got my list made out, if they ever ask me – I'm not even joking, you can tell Frank Skinner I'm ready! Or I'd love to be on Westworld – I'm totally addicted to that!

MIDSOMER MURDERS | ITV SUNDAY

WINTER'S TALE

NICK HENDRIX TELLS US
HOW HE'S SETTLING IN AS MIDSOMER'S DS JAMIE WINTER...

DS Jamie Winter is in the strange position of being both a newcomer and an established presence in Midsomer Murders – although he's been on-screen since 2016, ITV's scheduling of the drama means that we're only just approaching the end of his first series as DCI John Barnaby's right-hand man. To mark the occasion, Inside TV talked to actor Nick Hendrix about arriving in Midsomer, chatting to celebrity guest stars – and the unfortunate time when life imitated art...

Hi, Nick! It's taken a while for your first full series to finish airing, hasn't it?

It has! It's a strange sort of flattery in a way because ITV treasures the Midsomer episodes – they're such a big ratings hit that they hold on to them, like a grenade to throw out on a Sunday. But as an actor you want to be on every week and have the audience get to know you – but instead we had four episodes go out, and it's been about 16 months to get the last two!

This week's finale is called 'The Curse Of The Ninth' – tell us more...

It's very musically themed, all about an orchestra. James Fleet plays the conductor and composer who has written his ninth symphony. There's a common mythology around the 'curse of the ninth', that composers don't get past their ninth symphony. As per Midsomer Murders, people start dying around it in various musically themed ways, so look out for violin strings and sheets of music being used as murder weapons...

Simon Callow guest stars in this episode as well – what was it like working with him?

With Simon, you just want to sit him down and hear his life story – which we did! I feel like we're Parkinson, constantly getting new guests sitting down in the artists' chairs just off set. It got to the point with Simon where it was becoming an intrusion having to go back on set to film. We were like, "I know that we need to do a scene, but he's just telling us about Laurence Olivier, okay?"

What's your welcome from the fans been like so far?

Obviously with social media nowadays, it's quite tangible.

But so far, there's been a generally positive response – Midsomer people are a very dedicated fan group. A lot of them are still dealing with Neil Dudgeon taking over from John Nettles!

Even though he's been doing it for seven

THE KIDS ARE ALL RIGHT?

DR CHRIS VAN TULLEKEN IS ON A MISSION TO TACKLE HOW WE MEDICATE OUR CHILDREN...

Two years ago, Dr Chris Van Tulleken embarked on a mission to change the way we approach healthcare, by teaming up with a GP surgery to encourage patients to try drug-free remedies for their ailments. Now he's back with a new two-part series, this time focussing on possible alternatives to drugs for children...

"I didn't think there was a particular problem with children being over-medicated – I thought doctors and parents would be more responsible than with adults and corporations would be less aggressive," Chris tells Inside TV. "But in the run-up to having a baby, who's now 10 months old, it was very clear that I was vulnerable to a number of marketable strategies – and children's medicine is a huge industry."

In the series, Chris explores why British kids take three times more medication than they did 40 years ago, and looks to see if worried parents are resorting to drugs that their children may be better off without.

"Parents and children are vulnerable," says Chris. "We're exhausted, we're anxious and we're ripe for companies selling us or informing us about treatments that we maybe don't need and that don't work very well. So it was a genuine voyage of discovery – and a lot of what I found was much worse than I thought it was going to be..."

Dr No: Chris examines if modern children are over-medicated years, a lot of them are like, "I don't like this new detective, I'm just not sure about him". Well, I think he's proved himself! I imagine I would know if they really hated me by now – but I think it's all been okay, touch wood.

Has playing DS Winter made you look at people more suspiciously in everyday life?

Ha ha! I always look at people suspiciously anyway. Ironically, my wife and I got burgled – which was terrible – while I was filming one of the episodes. After we found out, I had to shoot a scene that was us basically turning up at a break-in – which was a very hectic scene to shoot – and then I had to go home. It was really strange having to deal with actual detectives while filming being a detective!

THE ROYAL WEDDING: PRINCE HARRY AND MEGHAN MARKLE | BBC1 9AM

HARRY AND MEGHAN - THE ROYAL WEDDING | ITV 9.25AM

DON'T Miss!

Windsor takes it all

When we first started watching a small-time US legal drama called Suits on Dave some six years ago, little did we imagine that one its stars would end up a featured player in a Royal wedding – but the best stories are always unpredictable.

Today, Meghan Markle will be joining our Royal family as she marries Prince Harry with the eyes of the world's media upon her – which must add extra frisson to wedding-day nerves.

The ceremony is scheduled for noon, but the run-up to the big moment will be covered in exhaustive detail by both the BBC and ITV. Dermot O'Leary, Kirsty Young and Huw Edwards will be leading the BBC coverage, while Phillip Schofield and Julie Etchingham will be anchoring for ITV.

THE KEITH & PADDY PICTURE SHOW | ITV 9.20PM

And now for something about as far from a Royal wedding as you can possibly get: Keith and Paddy bring their second series of affectionate film parodies to a close with their own take on Jurassic Park, which should serve as a handy warm-up for the release of Jurassic World: Fallen Kingdom in the UK next month. The boys' version of the original dino blockbuster features Keith as Richard Attenborough, Paddy as Sam Neill, Sally Phillips as Laura Dern and Shaun Ryder as Jeff Goldblum – and a special appearance from Bernie Clifton. A roaring good time is had by all.

INSPECTOR MONTALBANO | BBC4 9PM

It's fun seeing whether the next foreign-language Saturday night drama on BBC4 will take us somewhere new or somewhere familiar. It's a case of the latter tonight as we return to Vigàta with the Sicilian detective. The 12th series begins as Montalbano investigates a shop owner's disappearance after his business is destroyed by fire, alongside a series of strange kidnappings...

CITIZEN KHAN | Gold 7PM

To celebrate Harry and Meghan walking down the aisle, Gold is getting in the mood with a selection of memorable sitcom weddings. First, we have Shazia and Amjad's nuptials, which seem doomed when Mrs Khan refuses to attend the wedding.

BLUE BLOODS | Sky Atlantic 9PM

The Reagans' sense of loyalty is put to the test tonight when Frank's former partner is brought in maintaining his innocence after a shooting in a strip club, while Danny's brother-in-law Jimmy needs him to bail him out – again.

THE HANDMAID'S TALE | Channel 4 9PM

Emotional labour

The first season of The Handmaid's Tale last year made for compelling viewing: the adaptation of Margaret Atwood's novel – set in a dystopian future where a population crisis leads to the enslavement of the remaining fertile women – struck a chord in a world where women's bodily autonomy remains the subject of heated debate. It was a work of fiction, but didn't feel that far from reality.

We left things on a cliffhanger as Offred was picked up by a van that could either be carrying her to freedom or to greater danger. We won't spoil the outcome, but let's just say that, having embarrassed Aunt Lydia by leading a rebellion among the handmaids, Offred is about to discover the consequences.

TOP OF THE BOX 1985 WITH MATTHEW KELLY | Channel 5 9PM

Matthew Kelly hosts this new series that looks at the shows we were all glued to in a particular year – think of it like a time-travel Gogglebox. The first episode looks at 1985, and includes the last interview given by comedian and presenter Jim Bowen prior to his death in March, as he talks about the difficulties he found in the early days of presenting darts game show Bullseye. We'll also be hearing from Crossroads stars Jane Crossington and Tony Adams about a troubled patch for the Midlands motel soap opera, and there's a look at the huge impact of Live Aid.

THE NHS HEROES AWARDS | ITV 8.30PM

Medical marvels

A week of programming on prime-time ITV marking the 70th anniversary of the NHS gets underway tonight with this awards do hosted by Paul O'Grady. Featuring tributes from Prince William, Sir Elton John and Dame Shirley Bassey, to name just a few, the plan is to celebrate the unsung heroes within the NHS and demonstrate the vital work they do. Awards go to a surgeon who saved the first victim of the London Bridge terror attack and a midwife with a 50-year career of delivering babies in remote conditions.

"The NHS is something that's very close to my heart – literally!" says Paul. "They've saved me on two or three occasions, so I'm delighted to be a part of it."

We marvel at how this series manages to cram a full day's worth of drama into about 50 minutes of TV time, but tonight they don't have to, as 24 Hours In Police Custody starts its seventh series with a special extended episode. Following the discovery of a woman's body in a patch of grassland, Bedfordshire Police set out to establish her final movements and learn from her neighbours that she had been arguing with her partner, who reacts oddly when they visit to inform him of her death. It seems like a straightforward case, but the further they get into it, the more complicated it becomes.

ELEMENTARY | Sky Living 9PM

It's been a long wait for the return of the New York-based Sherlock Holmes' adaptation – mostly because the CBS network in America decided to air the show over summer instead of starting it in the autumn as usual. Season six begins with Sherlock receiving a medical diagnosis that explains why he has been experiencing memory loss and hallucinations – and it's going to be a tough test for his sobriety and personal relationships...

FOOTBALL'S 47 BEST WORST SONGS | Dave 8PM

The imminent arrival of the World Cup reminds us that such occasions coincide with football-themed songs – with what we'll politely call “mixed results”. Bob Mortimer hosts a rundown of the best, and mostly worst, examples of the genre.

BLINDSPOT | Sky Living 10PM

Wrapping up its third season tonight, Jane and Weller go on the hunt for a former colleague, hoping that they can finally stop Roman. There's no official word on season four as yet, but we gather things look promising...

Crisis management

Absolutely anything could happen in this series airing over the next three nights, as Davina McCall joins the staff at the busy A&E department of Leeds General Infirmary and follows patients' stories from the moment they arrive to the time they leave. We should stress that the programme makers have gone to great lengths to ensure patient confidentiality and safety is paramount, as Davina reveals. "I'm going to be embedded for four days before we go live

– I'm going to be on the ward, watching how they do things," says Davina. "I'll be learning protocols, making sure we never intrude when we shouldn't. But beyond that I can't prepare at all – that's what's so exciting about it!"

There's an old Welsh tradition known as Ty Unnos, which suggests that if you can build a house with four walls and a roof and get a fire burning in the hearth in the space of a day, then you own that house and the ground it sits on. It's not legally enforceable (sadly), but it makes for a great test of your abilities, so in this special episode George Clarke enlists designer and craftsman Will Hardie and a team of former Amazing Spaces builders to erect a lakeside cabin near Machynlleth in Wales – but the elements aren't about to go easy on them.

CARRY ON BRUSSELS | Channel 4 10PM

National importance

There are few more divisive issues than Brexit in British politics, and with the exit from the EU looming next March, this documentary follows seven MEPs from across the political spectrum to cut through the headlines and show what really goes on inside the EU. (Some might say that this is the sort of thing we needed before June 2016 – Inside TV couldn't possibly comment.)

This opening episode explores the divisions within the British contingent in the wake of the referendum: Labour's Seb Dance watches the reactions roll in from the public after his silent protest against Nigel Farage goes viral, while UKIP's Gerard Batten experiences a combative day in parliament.

LOVE IN THE COUNTRYSIDE | BBC2 9PM

"The local dating scene involves a pub that's usually shut, a fish and chip shop which is always open, and that's about it really." Cripes! No wonder Herefordshire pig farmer Wendy isn't having much luck on the romance front. So she's looking a little further afield in the hope of finding Mr Right, and businessman Simon and ex-banker Paul have impressed enough to earn an invite to visit her on the farm. Meanwhile, Lancashire dairy farmer Ed heads away from the farm as he visits potential love matches Lisa and Rebecca on their home turf.

TASKMASTER | Dave 9PM

Four episodes in, and the contestants should be nicely warmed-up by now – although the extreme capriciousness of Taskmaster Greg Davies means that no player on this show should ever feel confident that they really know what they're doing. In tonight's show, Tim Vine sheds his clothes (form an orderly queue, ladies and gents), Russell Howard gets some new ink done, and Alice Levine gets all arty with squirty cream...

BIG SKY, BIG DREAMS, BIG ART: MADE IN THE USA | BBC4 9PM

Art critic Waldemar Januszczak presents this three-part series exploring the golden age of American art. He starts by looking at how Native American rock art became such a key influence on non-naturalistic painting.

STATION 19 | Sky Living 10PM

Twenty candidates are on board for the captaincy drill test – with Andy and Jack being two of them – but there's only one job going at Station 19. And while they are away proving themselves, Travis steps up as acting captain...

HUMANS | Channel 4 9PM

Plastic fantastic

Things are getting somewhat serious in the sci-fi drama after last week's explosive season opener, with a police raid on the Railyard resulting in a bit of a power struggle for the inscrutable Max. And ol' blue eyes is back in town as Niska seeks revenge for the bombing that left Astrid badly injured.

Over in the Hawkins household, there's the arrival of a very buff new synth named Stanley, all toned pecs and a perfect Barbie-and-Ken smile. He's been assigned to ensure Laura's safety as well as do the chores – although, as she says, how can she call for synth equality when she has one carrying her handbag?

And her estranged hubby-turned-fruit-and-veg-seller Joe makes a shocking discovery...

FIRST DATES | Channel 4 10PM

Regional variations

Treading its fine-dining line between exquisite and excruciating, First Dates has become must-see TV during its five years on air. Watching strangers making small talk over the hors d'oeuvres has never been so much fun – and much as we love it when the couples skip off to their cab hand-in-hand, you can't beat a bit of a ding-dong before dessert. This week, amiable maître d' Fred Sirieix welcomes trainee accountant Ruth, a part-time carnival dancer and proud owner of a Brazilian bum lift, and eager datees Claudia and Jack, seeking a Harry Potter match made in heaven.

DEEP STATE | Fox 9PM

The gripping home-grown thriller starring Mark Strong concludes tonight – as Max makes his way to the US, having seemingly uncovered the real reason why the Tehran unit ended up in the crosshairs of The Section. It's a victory, of course, but the fight is far from over – and he needs to take appropriate action to ensure that justice is done. Expect big twists and typically nerve-shredding action from this final episode.

THE HORNE SECTION TELEVISION PROGRAMME | Dave 9PM

Taskmaster's Alex Horne branches out with this two-hour special exploring one of his other projects: the leader of a band called The Horne Section. We're promised a heady mix of music, comedy and guest performances.

SILICON VALLEY | Sky Atlantic 10.10PM

Tonight's season finale sees the long-awaited launch of PiperNet, but the celebrations may be a little premature when Monica grows suspicious about its early success, and Richard realises how many adversaries he's picked up along the way.

THE STORY OF CLIFF RICHARD | Channel 5 9PM

DON'T Miss!

On a Cliff edge

He's been in showbusiness for nearly 60 years, sold over 250 million records worldwide, and had more festive hits than you can shake a Christmas tree at – he's the one and only Cliff Richard, and this celebratory documentary takes a look back at his evergreen career. And there's a lot of ground to cover, from his early years with The Shadows to top-three finishes in the Eurovision Song Contest.

As well as the showbiz side of things, this documentary will also explore Cliff's very public

Christian beliefs, and his recent legal battle against the BBC. And if this leaves you in the mood for more Cliff, it's followed by a repeat of the 1999 special An Audience With Cliff Richard, where he performs for a fan-packed crowd.

DON'T Miss!

HOME FROM HOME | BBC1 9.30PM

Tonight there's a spot of discord among the Hacketts after Neil admits to an old crush and Fiona feels rather defensive about it, while wealthy neighbours Penny and Robert consider selling up. Whatever your opinions on this (agreeable enough, in our opinion) class-divide sitcom set in a Lake District holiday park, surely we can all agree that we're going to miss those gorgeous locations after tonight's final episode. And speaking of breathtaking views rarely seen in nature, it's also our last chance for the time being to witness Elaine Paige's magnificent wig.

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

IN LUCY-JO HUDSON

(Unknown, Hollyoaks)

It's been reported that former Coronation Street star Lucy-Jo Hudson (Katy Harris) is joining Hollyoaks as a major new character with a big connection to a regular villager. The news comes shortly after the announcement that Lucy-Jo and Corrie's Alan Halsall (Tyrone) are divorcing, with the actress saying: "We remain friends and daddy to our daughter Sienna." Soon

CHARLES LAWSON (Jim McDonald, Corrie)

IN Jim McDonald is heading back to Coronation Street – so he is! – and series producer Kate Oates promises big drama ahead now that Jim is released from prison. "Jim is going to be coming back with a lot of resentment – from his point of view, he's been rotting in prison and no one cares!" she reveals. Summer

CARLA BONNER (Steph Scully, Neighbours)

OUT After she posted a cryptic Twitter status, the word on the street is that long-standing favourite Carla will be departing Erinsborough as Steph in the near future. Summer

SHANE RICHIE (Alfie Moon, EastEnders)

IN The smart money is on Shane coming back to Albert Square sooner rather than later – and the actor has revealed that it will please one very special person in his life. "My wife wants me to get back to work," he laughs. "She's desperate for me to do [EastEnders] as I've had two years off. I think that has been enough for me." Soon

THE EX FILES!

What are the one-time stars of soap up to now?

JACK OF ALL TRADES!

North meets East meets West in upcoming BBC period drama Gentleman Jack, as ex-Corrie actress Suranne Jones (Karen McDonald) will play landowner and diarist Anne Lister – alongside Timothy West (Walford's Stan Carter) in the role as Anne's father, Jeremy. The eight-part drama tells the tale of formidable Anne's battles in her hometown of Halifax – in matters of business and matters of the heart.

GOODBYE, CATHY

Former Home and Away star Cathy Godbold has died aged 43. The actress sadly lost her decade-long fight with brain cancer after previously learning that it was terminal – her death mirroring that of her Summer Bay alter ego Meg Bowman, who famously passed away in her lover Blake's arms on the beach while they watched the sun set.

DUST-SEE SHOW!

The new musical based on the life and times of renowned singer Dusty Springfield will feature some familiar faces. Actress Roberta Taylor (Albert Square's Irene Raymond and The Bill's Inspector Gina Gold) will portray Dusty's mother, while in the director's chair will be Maria Friedman – aka Linda's mother Elaine Peacock in EastEnders. The stage show kicks off on 23 June in Bath.

BOOK

When successful novelist Lucas finds himself at the centre of a very real horror story, he soon ends up investigating the dark secrets being harboured at a retreat. Will he manage to separate the fact from the fiction?

For the chance to win a copy, tell us who Lukas Radovich plays in Home and Away: A) Hunter or B) Ryder. Text ISPRIZE2, a space, then A or B and your name & address to 84988 (50p). Or see below for postal entries.

STAR CHOICE

Neighbours' Takaya Honda (David)

"I had a lot of fun watching Thor: Ragnarok when travelling on a plane recently. It was so much fun, as it had a beautiful balance between the action and adventure Marvel is known for and great comedy – which I reckon makes it feel truer to life. I also spotted a couple of familiar Aussie faces in it!"

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

You'd be forgiven for failing to keep up with Joe and Debbie's roller-coaster romance. From love to loathing, loathing to love – via an acid attack, CPR and, erm, building model aeroplanes. It's a miracle they even know what day it is.

If you'd told us last year that Adam Barlow was going to end up as one half of a comedy double act with the crackers mum of con-man-turned-Phelan-victim Vinny, we'd have worried for your sanity.

We've missed Rainie.

We're mystified as to why Corrie's new Speed Daal set is almost identical to the Bistro. It's very confusing! If it wasn't for Kayla in the background of this scene, we'd struggle to tell the difference.

BULLSEYE!

In a Hits & Misses first, our Bullseye spot goes to a member of a soap's backstage team: Corrie boss Kate Oates. The episodes after Aidan's suicide were very special indeed. We admired how David's rape storyline ran parallel with the Connor tragedy; encouraging those in similar situations to seek help. Real lives will have been saved by the show – and for that, Kate and her team deserve ultimate praise.

We loved Mo making the most of her cleaning jobs at the Vic and E20. Have one for us, Mo!

Please join us in worshipping at the temple of actress Emma Atkins, whose outstanding performances continue to give us goosebumps.

Shame on you, Emmerdale, for duping us into thinking Bob and Brenda were actually going to make it, before catapulting him in Laurel's direction again. And just when we thought poor Ashley's widow had suffered enough!

We share Linda's feelings about Halfway's lairy brother Stuart – surely the most objectionable new character in years!

While we're impressed with Emmerdale's commitment to bringing us a broader range of wildlife, it's the village vets we feel sorry for – having to neuter this lot.

Duncan from Blue is dead. So sad. We know his Hollyoaks character probably had a name, but it was always too much fun calling him Duncan from Blue.

Goodbye then, Ingrid the au pair. There was probably a storyline planned for you at some stage, but we'll never know what it was. Hey ho!
